Areas of Experience

I have nineteen years' experience as a freelance writer and editor, including journalism; magazine writing; editing and production; book and technical manual editing and production; computer help file architecture; brochures, speeches, news releases and other public information material; educational documents and educational media scripts; communications consulting for government; teaching in workshop, school class and other formats; document and book design; production co-ordination with designers, photographers and artists in production of print material plus programmers in web site design web sites; and consulting on communication needs. I am a partner in Wooden Door and Associates, a professional communications company. I am publisher of Tesseract Books, an imprint of The Books Collective, and of River Books, an imprint of The Books Collective, of which I am a director. I have done extensive volunteer community development in the arts community. In 1998 I won a YWCA Women of Distinction Award in Arts and Culture.

In addition, I am a published writer of fiction, non-fiction and poetry. My novel Black Wine was published by Tor Books (New York) in January of 1997 and in March received the IAFA Crawford Fantasy Award for best fantasy novel of the year. It received the James Tiptree Jr. Memorial Award in 1998, was a runner-up for the WGA Novel Award, and the 1998 Prix Aurora Award (Canadian Science Fiction and Fantasy Award) for Best Long-Form Work in English I have six other published books and numerous publications in anthologies and collections.
